

LONG ISLAND BOTANICAL SOCIETY NEWSLETTER

JUNE 1991

NEXT MEETING

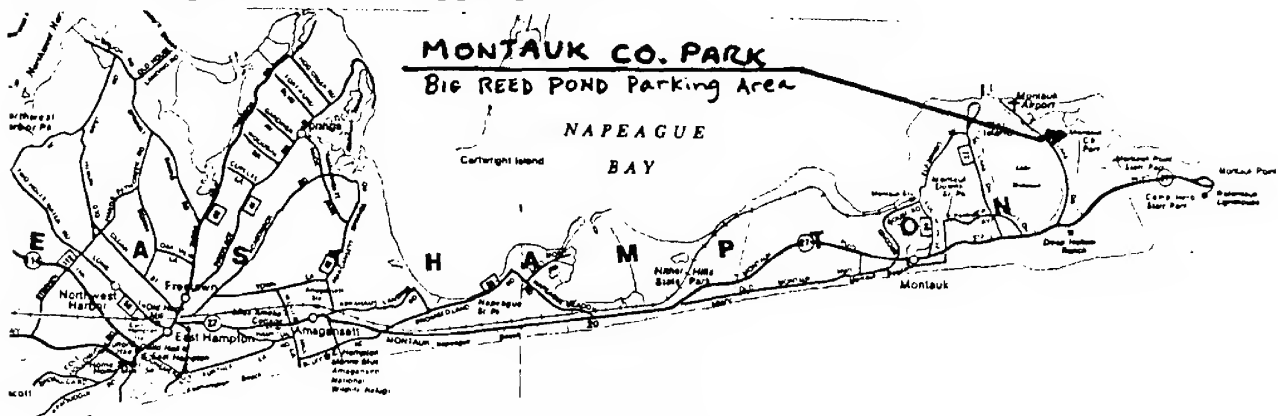

"Eastern Wildflowers au Naturel"

DATE: Tuesday, June 11, 1991 at 7:30 pm
PLACE: Uplands Farm, Lawrence Hill Rd., Cold Spring Harbor
The program will concentrate on those "rare but locally abundant" wildflowers whose cultural requirements are so exacting that they rarely survive in captivity, but still thrive in their native habitats. Joann Knapp, our speaker for the evening, is an instructor and photographer at Planting Fields Arboretum, and is well-known for her entertaining slide lectures.

FIELD TRIPS

JUNE 7 - Montauk and Big Reed Pond
Meet at 9:00 am in Riverhead, or at 11:30 am at Big Reed Pond in Montauk.

The South Fork has been a botanists' favorite for many years, and field trip leader Eric Lamont has a diverse excursion planned. For those interested in side trips on the way to Montauk, meet at the McDonalds on Route 24 -Flanders Rd. (LI Expressway Exit 71), just beyond the traffic circle in Riverhead, at 9 am. We will stop at Deerfield for Hottonia inflata (featherfoil) and at Napeague for Liparis lucelli (bog twayblade). To meet the group at Montauk, be at the parking area to Big Reed Pond off East Lake Drive at 11:30 am. This area is noted for deer ticks. Light clothes and insect repellent are appropriate.

On JULY 6, LIBS heads north to the Bashakill Wildlife Management Area in Sullivan County. We will be carpooling from C.W. Post College in Greenvale at 7:30 am with plans to arrive at Bashakill around 10:00. A flyer will be sent out in mid-June with details and directions for this and the rest of the summer's field trips.

May Field Trip Report

On May 18, a group of 12 LIBS members met at Planting Fields Arboretum for a tour of the woodland trails, led by Carol Johnston. Undaunted by the grandeur of every azalea imaginable in full bloom, our first stop was to examine an unobtrusive mystery mustard along the edge of the drive. Botanical highlights included several locations of the white form of the pink ladyslipper, and Isotria verticillata with four plants in flower. For a grand (non-plant) finale, a fledgling great horned owl made an appearance. Of course, everyone in our group first identified the spruce in which it sat, before admiring the bird.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Welcome to new LIBS members Joseph Grupp, Richard and Barbara Lane, Marie Madigan, and Mary Rose Ruffini.
